ABOUT CJI

The Wilmington University Criminal Justice Institute offers customized professional development and training to law enforcement professionals in Delaware, Pennsylvania, Maryland and New Jersey. Now you can enjoy relevant programs close to home while saving travel costs.

Experience is education for WilmU's Criminal Justice Institute. There's no substitute for experience.

When Dr. Raymond Carr and Scott Duffey, the assistant professors who direct Wilmington University's Criminal Justice Institute, lead a continuing education program for law enforcement professionals, their combined 64 years in the field add the weight of authority.

Their True Crime Lecture Series has packed the ballroom of a Concord Pike hotel by inviting the investigators, profilers, and undercover agents behind headline-making cases to reflect on their careers.

They've shared statistics and strategies for responding to an active shooter incident with the faculty and staff of a local school district in order to prepare them to protect their students.

"Ray and I love face-to-face instruction. We love audience engagement," says Duffey. "It adds to the grasp of whatever you're learning. It's hands-on in our classrooms and when we're learning about the needs of those we train."

Office of the President
Dr. LaVerne T. Harmon

Dear participants,

On behalf of the administration, staff and faculty of Wilmington University, I thank you first for your service.

I'm delighted to welcome you to the inaugural Violent Crime Symposium presented by Wilmington University's Criminal Justice Institute (CJI). Led by directors Dr. Ray Carr and Mr. Scott Duffey, the CJI strives to uphold the highest standards in customized development and training for law enforcement professionals. Its progressive and relevant workshops are presented thoughtfully, researched comprehensively, and offered by instructors who value the importance of aligning themselves with the needs of their communities.

This Violent Crime Symposium was designed to offer you the opportunity to garner insight from some of the nation's most respected subject matter experts in the criminal justice field. We hope you will enjoy meeting and developing substantive relationships with these experts, as well as fellow law enforcement professionals who embrace this brotherhood.

We invite you to learn more about the Criminal Justice Institute and the many services it provides to law enforcement professionals throughout the year.

We hope you find this symposium to be a productive and fulfilling learning experience.

Sincerely,

Dr. LaVerne T. Harmon

Hello and welcome,

Thank you for your commitment to excellence in service and in continuing education and that you are demonstrating by attending this vital symposium. Opportunities like this one allow members of law enforcement to convene and share their knowledge and experiences, and are essential to staying abreast of best practices in the ever-evolving fight against violent crime.

This work is absolutely critical and I am deeply grateful for your dedication to keeping our communities safe and to staying one step ahead of those who would commit violence against our neighbors. I am particularly grateful to see that this symposium provides training and resources on officer resiliency and caring for your mental health. You are pillars of our community, and the weight of your work is too much for any one person to carry alone.

Each of you has my profound respect and deepest gratitude and I wish each of you a rewarding and productive day as you lean in and learn from some of the best and brightest in the field. Enjoy the symposium.

Sincerely,

WALT HUNTER III

Master of Ceremonies

Eyewitness News Reporter Walt Hunter III, who retired in May of 2016 after 44 years in journalism, was one of the market's most outstanding investigative reporters. He earned many awards and honors for his hard-driving, in-depth reporting style, including 17 Philadelphia Emmy Awards, including the most recent 2016 Emmy for Best Human Interest Reporter. In 2016, he also received the prestigious Board of Governors Award from the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences. In 2013, Mr. Hunter received an Emmy for his "Hurricane Sandy" coverage and a second Emmy for Outstanding General Assignment Reporter. In 2007, he was inducted into the Broadcast Pioneers Hall of Fame. He also was honored by the Pennsylvania Association of Broadcasters, the Associated Press, and the Philadelphia Press Association.

Mr. Hunter joined the CBS 3 News team in 1980, covering the police beat. Over 35 years, he earned a reputation for breaking many of the region's top stories. His series of investigative reports on Joaquin Rivera, a beloved guidance counselor who died waiting for medical care at a hospital emergency room, prompted hearings by Philadelphia's City Council. His exclusive reports about the way confusion and mistakes kept lifesaving help from reaching a dying mother at Philadelphia International Airport inspired significant changes at the airport. Mr. Hunter's live radio broadcast on the funeral for murdered Philadelphia Police Officer John Pawlowski received the top award in 2010 for Outstanding Radio Story from the Pennsylvania Association of Broadcasters on Talk Radio 1210 WPHT, where for seven years, he co-hosted the popular weekly talk show, "The Crime Guys."

A Philadelphia native, Mr. Hunter worked his way through college, spending summers as a deckhand on an oil barge at a Philadelphia refinery. He graduated from the University of Pennsylvania with a Bachelor of Arts degree in English.

He moved to television following five years as the morning drive and police beat reporter for WCAU-AM, then an all-news radio station. He was a reporter for the Philadelphia Bulletin and The Main Line Times, where, at 23, he was the youngest managing editor in the paper's history. Mr. Hunter is an avid railroad buff, golfer and runner. He served for 29 years as a volunteer firefighter in his community and continues to lend his advice and support to regional fire companies. He teaches Journalism and Communications as an adjunct professor at Immaculata University, where he was awarded an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree in 2016.

Mr. Hunter also serves on the board of Mission Kids, the Montgomery County Child Advocacy Center.

HONORABLE KATHLEEN JENNINGS

Attorney General for Delaware

A native of Wilmington, Delaware, Del. Attorney General Kathy Jennings joined the Delaware Department of Justice out of law school, starting her legal career as one of two women in the Criminal Division. In the years that followed, she prosecuted scores of domestic violence, sexual assault, and homicide cases, including working with the FBI, New Castle County Police Department, and the Delaware State Police for investigating and prosecuting a serial killer who tortured and murdered five women. She then served as both state prosecutor and Chief Deputy Attorney General before entering private practice, where she represented individuals and companies in criminal, regulatory and civil matters. Ms. Jennings returned to the DOJ in 2011 as state prosecutor under Attorneys General Beau Biden and Matt Denn. Before running for Attorney General, she served as the chief administrative officer of New Castle County under County Executive Matt Meyer, managing personnel and budgetary matters for Delaware's second-largest public employer. Ms. Jennings was sworn in as Delaware's 46th Attorney General on Jan. 1, 2019.

JAMES A. GAGLIANO KEYNOTE SPEAKER FBI (Ret.) Supervisory Special Agent (SSA)

James A. Gagliano was born in 1965, in Fort Ord, California, where his father was stationed at the Naval Postgraduate School, and he spent his formative years in Decatur, Georgia. He graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree and a concentration in Military History from the United States Military Academy at West Point in 1987. He was commissioned as an Infantry Officer in the United States Army, serving as a Light Infantry Platoon Leader and Company Executive Officer in the 10th Mountain Division, while stationed at Fort Benning, Georgia, and Fort Drum, New York, during the Cold War. His awards include the Airborne, Air Assault, Jungle Expert, and Expert Infantryman's badges, as well as the Ranger tab.

Mr. Gagliano entered on duty as an FBI Special Agent (SA) on February 10, 1991, serving 25 years in various investigative, tactical resolution, crisis management, undercover, mid-level, and senior management positions. Investigative assignments included an FBI organized crime squad and an FBI-NYPD counter-narcotics task force. In 1997, he was selected for the FBI's elite counterterrorism unit, the Hostage Rescue Team (HRT), and in 2002 as the Senior Team Leader of the FBI New York Field Division's 45-man SWAT Team. During the Global War on Terrorism, between 2002 and 2003, he deployed to Afghanistan three separate times to support Operation Enduring Freedom. In addition, he was awarded FBI's second highest award for valor, the Medal of Bravery, for the New York SWAT Team's actions during the TRADEBOM terrorism case arrest in Brooklyn on June 3, 1993.

Serving as the FBI New York Office's Crisis Management Coordinator between 2005 and 2008, he was appointed Supervisory Senior Resident Agent (SSRA) of the Hudson Valley Resident Agency (HVRA), responsible for New York's upstate counties Orange, Dutchess, and Sullivan. It was there that he formed the eminently successful Hudson Valley Safe Streets Task Force (HVSSTF), a federal task force focused on disrupting and dismantling violent street gangs. His work there was the subject of critical acclaim, including part of a September 2011 long-form article in New York Magazine, entitled "Welcome to Newburgh, Murder Capital of New York: Can FBI Agent James Gagliano Make Newburgh Safe?"

In 2012, he was selected to study the Spanish language at US State Department's Foreign Service Institute (FSI), before being assigned as deputy legal attaché and acting legal attaché, posted to the United States Embassy in México City, México. He returned to the New York Office in 2014 and served his final FBI assignment when he was appointed Special Assistant to the Assistant Director in Charge of the FBI's flagship office. He retired on January 1, 2016. Since 2015, Mr. Gagliano has served as an adjunct assistant professor at St. John's University in Jamaica, Queens, where he also earned a Masters in Professional Studies (MPS) in Homeland Security and Criminal Justice Leadership, graduating with summa cum laude honors in January of 2017. He is now a doctoral candidate within St. John's inaugural Doctor of Professional Studies (DPS) in Homeland Security program – his dissertation focusing on police use-of-force matters.

He currently serves as a Security and Law Enforcement analyst for CBS News, where he provides on-air analyses of complex law enforcement and counterterrorism matters. In addition, he remains a sought-after speaker on criminal justice, homeland security, and organizational leadership matters and frequently delivers keynote addresses for corporate clients and in academic settings. In March of 2020, Mr. Gagliano was appointed to the Board of Directors of the Law Enforcement Legal Defense Fund (LELDF), a nonprofit founded in 1995 whose mission is benevolent and educational, seeking to protect law enforcement professionals by fighting for their legal rights. He is a frequent contributor to the New York Post and was published in CNN Opinion, Washington Examiner, Fortune, The Hill, Newsmax, Just Security, Newsweek, Havok Journal, and FOX News.

Mr. Gagliano is married to his wife, Tiffany, who serves as Dean of the School of Business at Mount Saint Mary College in Newburgh, New York. They have five children between them, sharing custody of one sweet rescued Pitbull Terrier, JAXON. On March 16, 2021, Mr. Gagliano was elected the 29th mayor of the Village of Cornwall-on-Hudson in upstate New York, following his two-year term as a Village trustee.

COLLEEN FITZPATRICK, PhD

Colleen Fitzpatrick, PhD, President and Founder of Identifinders International, is widely recognized as the founder of modern Forensic Genealogy. She has pioneered the use of genetic genealogy for generating forensic intelligence on cold cases, sometimes decades old. Dr. Fitzpatrick has twice been recognized as a finalist in the international Gordon Honeywell Thomas Cold Case Hit of the Year competition, in 2018 for solving the 1992-1993 Phoenix Canal Murders, the first case solved using genetic genealogy (2015), and in 2020 for her work on the 1991 Sarah Yarborough Homicide, the first case where genetic genealogy was used to generate investigative leads (2011). Dr. Fitzpatrick's expertise includes the application of whole-genome sequencing to low-level and highly degraded DNA, enabling John Doe identifications that otherwise were believed to have gone beyond the reach of modern technology.

Dr. Fitzpatrick's collaborations include the Armed Forces DNA Identification Laboratory, the International Commission on Missing Persons, the Max Planck Institute of Evolutionary Biology, the US Army Casualty and Mortuary Affairs Office, the Simon Wiesenthal Center in Jerusalem, the University of Arizona, the University of Adelaide, and other noted professional organizations. She is a member of the Vidocq Society and the only Forensic Genealogist who is a Member of the American Academy of Forensic Science (AAFS).

Dr. Fitzpatrick earned a PhD in nuclear physics from Duke University. Through her company Rice Systems, Inc., she contracted with NASA, the Department of Defense, and other military and civilian government organizations to develop high-resolution laser measurement techniques. In 2005, she changed her focus to forensics. She is the founder of Identifinders International and the Co-Founder of the DNA Doe Project. She lectures widely in the US, Canada, Europe, Australasia. She has appeared in hundreds of domestic and international newspapers and magazines and international radio and television programs. She is the author of three books: Forensic Genealogy, DNA & Genealogy, and The Dead Horse Investigation: Forensic Photo Analysis for Everyone.

THOMAS E. COGHLAN, PsyD "Officer Survival and Mental Health"

Dr. Tom Coghlan is a retired New York Police Department Detective and a clinical psychologist specializing in police and public safety psychology. He maintains a private practice in New York, where he treats police, other first responders, and emergency personnel and their families. He is a past visiting fellow at the International Association of Chiefs of Police, an adjunct professor of Psychology at John Jay College, and an adjunct professor of Criminal Justice at Monroe College.

Dr. Coghlan received his doctorate in Clinical Psychology from Yeshiva University and a master's in Forensic Psychology from John Jay College CUNY.

ALEXANDRA MCCONNELL

"ViCAP: Resources and Capabilities for Law Enforcement"

Crime Analyst Alexa McConnell is a Crime Analyst with the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) working with the Critical Incident Response Group (CIRG). She is embedded in Behavioral Analysis Unit (BAU)-4, working Crimes Against Adults/ViCAP. Her states of responsibility are Delaware, Georgia, Florida, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, and Washington, DC. She has been with the FBI since 2013.

CA McConnell holds a bachelor's degree in Psychology with minors in Criminal Deviance, Behavioral Forensics, and Criminal Profiling. She also has a master's in Criminal Justice.

PHILIP D. WRIGHT

(FBI) (LEOKA)

Mr. Philip D. Wright, an 18-year law enforcement veteran, entered the profession in 1994 as a patrol officer with the Clarksburg (West Virginia) Police Department. He worked undercover in a multi-jurisdiction drug task force Special Response Team and earned his certification as a RADAR and LIDAR enforcement instructor. In 2000, Mr. Wright joined the West Virginia State Police and received specialized training as a forensic interviewer of children suspected of being victims of sexual assault. As part of a specialized unit responsible for investigating these types of crimes, he worked primarily in criminal investigations. He also provided officer survivability instruction to cadets in training at the West Virginia State Police Academy.

Mr. Wright joined the FBI in 2012, and is assigned to the Criminal Justice Information Services Division in Clarksburg, West Virginia. He serves as a certified training instructor for the Law Enforcement Officers Killed and Assaulted Program. He has been researching felonious assaults and deaths of law enforcement officers since 2012.

Mr. Wright received a degree in Applied Science-Police Science, with honors, from Marshall University, Huntington, West Virginia.

SSA JEFFREY TANZOLA Director – Regional Computer Forensic Lab (Radnor, PA) Philadelphia Division

Jeffrey Tanzola is a Supervisory Special Agent (SSA) with the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). He is currently assigned to the Philadelphia Division at the Philadelphia Regional Computer Forensic Laboratory (PHRCFL) as the Laboratory Director. The PHRCFL is a multi-agency laboratory that conducts full digital forensics examinations for local, state, and federal agencies.

SSA Tanzola has 28 years of law enforcement experience and has been employed as a Special Agent for 16 years. SSA Tanzola has always been assigned to the Philadelphia Division and has spent his agent career working on a drug and gang squad. As a drug and gang squad member, SSA Tanzola focused on transnational drug trafficking organizations from Mexico, the Dominican Republic, and Colombia supplying narcotics to Philadelphia. Before the FBI, SSA Tanzola was a Trooper with the Maryland State Police, where he left as a Sergeant.

SSA Tanzola has been a certified forensic examiner since 2012. SSA Tanzola began working at the PHRCFL as a part-time examiner while assigned to the drug and gang squad. SSA Tanzola has broad experience in digital forensics and is certified in multiple disciplines, including Windows, MAC, mobile devices, and Linux.

KATIE GEIGER PATROL LIEUTENANT Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department

Katie Geiger has been a member of the Las Vegas community since 2006. She moved to Las Vegas from St. Louis, Missouri, where most of her family resides. She obtained two bachelor's degrees, one in Accounting and one in Finance, both from the University of Missouri – St. Louis.

Ms. Geiger has been a Law Enforcement professional with the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department for over 15 years. Most of her time has been with the community-oriented policing division in patrol, and she has found her passion in mentoring the younger generation of officers. When not serving her community, Ms. Geiger is very active in the fitness community in Las Vegas, whether that be snowboarding, mountain biking, or pushing herself in the gym. She is dedicated to her family, friends, and two rescue pups, Thor and Nala.

Ms. Geiger has held a variety of assignments; Field Training Officer, Recruiting Officer, Community Oriented Policing Sergeant, and Detective Sergeant. She is currently the swing shift Lieutenant for our Las Vegas Strip area command, Convention Center.

SA WILLIAM SHUTE FBI Cellular Analysis Survey Team

William Shute is now a special agent with the FBI but has served for more than 20 years, working primarily in violent crime cases. In 2005, Mr. Shute developed a program known as Project Pin-Point, a geo-spatial program used to map crime data for actively targeting street criminals. The program became a nationwide initiative for the FBI, leading Mr. Shute to receive the FBI's Director's Award in 2006. In 2005, he testified as an expert witness and the first federal expert in historical cell site analysis. In 2010, he and FBI representatives prepared a curriculum and four-week training course known as CAST Certification, the acronym representing the Cellular Analysis Survey Team. He has predominantly worked homicide investigations in the Philadelphia Metropolitan area and nationwide. Mr. Shute has presented internationally in Canada, Germany, and Malta, where he testified about a cellular device used to detonate a bomb during the assassination of a Maltese journalist. He serves as a national asset for the FBI CAST program out of FBI headquarters in Washington D.C. He is also a member of the FBI's elite Child Abduction Rapid Deployment team, which helps to investigate and resolve missing child cases. Mr. Shute has personally worked on more than two dozen child abduction cases over the past decade, including in Delaware, and has provided training in conducting child abduction investigations.

SUPERINTENDENT JIM SMYTH RETIRED "The Colonel Russell Williams Case"

Superintendent Jim Smyth served as a member of York Regional Police for eight years, in uniform, plain clothes, Crime Identification Bureau, and the Child Abuse/Sexual Assault Unit. He joined the Ontario Provincial Police in 1997 and served in the crime unit of Barrie Detachment before being promoted to Detective Sergeant in the Criminal Profiling Unit of its Behavioral Sciences Section in October of 2000. In September of 2003, Mr. Smyth completed the International Criminal Investigative Analysis Fellowship Understudy Program, resulting in certification as a criminal profiler, then the Canadian Police College Polygraph Examiner's course in 2006, receiving certification as a forensic polygraph examiner and forensic interviewer. In January of 2012, Mr. Smyth was assigned to the criminal investigation branch as a major case manager detective inspector for homicide and other violent crime investigations throughout Ontario. He moved to the Organized Crime Enforcement Bureau in April of 2015. He continued to work as a major case manager before being transferred to the Office of the Commissioner as executive officer to Commissioner Hawkes in 2016. Soon after, Mr. Smyth was promoted to superintendent and assigned as director of operations for the OPP's central region, overseeing approximately 1,000 uniform, crime unit, traffic, marine, and emergency response team personnel.

C. PIXTON, SSA SAFE STREETS GANG UNIT/CID "Strategies for a Successful Gang/Criminal Enterprise Investigation"

Mr. Pixton was born in Fort Hood, Texas. He received a BA in Sociology from Brigham Young University - Idaho in 2008. Before working as a Special Agent, Mr. Pixton was an Analyst working for the FBI in the Counterterrorism Division and the Criminal Investigative Division in Washington, DC.

Mr. Pixton entered on duty as a Special Agent (SA) of the FBI on February 10, 2013. From 2013 through 2021, SA Pixton was assigned to the Washington Field Office, where he worked Counterintelligence, Drug investigations, and Safe Street Gang investigations.

In February 2021, SA Pixton was promoted to Supervisory Special Agent in the Safe Street and Gang Unit in the Criminal Investigative Division. SSA Pixton is currently assigned to Criminal Investigative Division.

EDMUNDO MIRELES JR.

"FBI Miami Firefight: Five Minutes that Changed the Bureau"

Mr. Edmundo Mireles Jr. is a retired FBI Agent with 25 years of service. He served in Washington, D.C., three tours in Miami, Omaha and Tucson, and two tours at the FBI Academy at Quantico. He worked in several areas and held myriad roles, including supervisor, classified government programs, general violent crime, organized and narcotics investigations, undercover operations, Southwest Border Initiative, crime scene investigations, interviewing and interrogation, counter-terrorism/ bombing investigations, threat assessment, data collection, reporting of criminal and security incidents, firearms and street survival training. Mr. Mireles Jr. has more than 15 years of undercover experience in high-risk cases. After surviving two deadly force confrontations and being wounded twice, Mr. Mireles Jr. was selected as the 1986 National Police Officer of the Year, the recipient of the U.S. Attorney General's Award for Exceptional Heroism, and the FBI Medal of Valor. A subject matter expert on general law enforcement matters and deadly police force incidents, Mr. Mireles Jr. served as a law enforcement professional for four years in Iraq. There he assisted the Department of Defense and Department of State with program management, classified government programs, counter-insurgency and counter-terrorism, counter-improvised explosives device, intelligence and threat analysis, data collection/exploitation (Foreign Fighter Flow), external relationships with alliance partners (NATO), force protection, physical security, training, and mentoring Iraqi police. About WilmU

Wilmington University is a private, nonprofit, open-access and accredited institution that serves the unique needs of working adults seeking advancement through higher education. Our diverse degree and certificate programs prepare students for the global marketplace through experience-rich curricula delivered by expert practitioners. Student success is supported through flexible formats, including 100% online options, and affordable tuition rates that are consistently lower than those of regional competitors.

Mission

Wilmington University is committed to excellence in teaching, relevancy of its programs and offerings, and individual attention to students. As an institution with inclusive admission policies, it offers affordable and accessible higher education to students of varying ages, interests, and aspirations through both face-to-face and various online formats.

The University provides a range of exemplary career-oriented undergraduate and graduate degree programs and certificates, or customized offerings based upon market needs, for a growing and diverse student population. A highly qualified, full-time faculty works closely with part-time faculty drawn from the workplace to ensure that the university's programs prepare students to begin or continue their career, improve their competitiveness in the job market, and engage in lifelong learning.

Vision

Wilmington University will distinguish itself as an open-access university by building innovative academic courses and programs responsive to student, community, and market needs. Created to enable professional competence, these academic offerings will be available in face-to-face and/or varied online formats so that distance, time and cost will not be barriers to learning or student-centered service. We will foster an inclusive environment where diversity is valued and understanding and respect for others is the norm.

Values

We are committed to being a University where UNDERSTANDING and RESPECT for each other is paramount, INTEGRITY guides all of our choices, providing educational OPPORTUNITY is our primary purpose, and RESPONSIVENESS to diverse community needs is key.

In designing academic offerings and student services, we support INNOVATION and actively seek faculty with EXPERIENCE in their fields who can provide students with an EDUCATION focused on application.

We are especially committed to CARING for our students as customers and partners.
